

EIND 499 Journal Evaluation Rubric

Name: _____ Team: _____ Date: _____

	0	1-2	3-4	5-6	Score
Form	No other descriptors apply.	Most entries have date and time stamp. Most entries are labeled. Journal contains loose inserts or stapled items. Skipped or missing pages. Entries written in pencil.	Nearly all entries have date and time stamp. New dates usually start on a new page. Most entries are labeled. Journal contains no loose inserts or stapled items. Consecutive pages used. Entries written in ink.	Every entry has date and time stamp. New date always starts on a new page. Every entry is labeled. Journal contains no loose inserts or stapled items. Consecutive pages used. Entries written in ink.
Content	No other descriptors apply.	One or more significant lapse in journal use. Discontinuity between entries. Entries partially list outcomes of the activity, and note some of the tasks conducted during the activity. Back-filled content.	Regular use of the journal but lacking continuity between some entries. Entries outline major outcomes of the activity, and record some of the process leading to those outcomes. Most content appears recorded in real-time.	Near daily use of journal with clear continuity between entries. Entries specify all major outcomes of the activity, and describe the process leading to those outcomes. Content recorded real-time.	X2
Reflection	No other descriptors apply; or One or more assigned reflections missing	Connections to important ideas unclear and/or unsupported Mentions what understanding has changed Missing potential corrective actions or applications beyond the specific event Demonstrates little self-disclosure and appraisal	Alludes to important ideas, supported by general information Provides information on how understanding has changed in general terms Mentions potential corrective actions or applications Demonstrates cautious self-disclosure and guarded appraisal.	Develops meaningful connections to important ideas, with specific details. Describes how understanding has changed, with specific details and examples Explains potential corrective actions or applications beyond the specific event Demonstrates open self-disclosure and honest appraisal.
TOTAL					