

A Super-Poke to Faculty: How many ways can our students digitally communicate with us?

Join your colleagues for a lively discussion about the many forms of digital communication used between students and faculty on the MSU campus.

presented by

Ritchie Boyd

*Teaching & Learning Technology Support Specialist
Office of the Provost*

Matt Rognlie

*Information Technology
Systems Coordinator
College of Agriculture & AES*

Are you expecting your students to check their D2L assignments every day? Hoping the email you sent will reach all your students in time? Wondering why there wasn't much traffic on your course blog? Ever stop to wonder how many forms of digital communication faculty use with their students on the MSU campus?

Learn ways to effectively communicate with your students outside the classroom and the preferences students have for digital communication.

Looking for someone to work with you individually on teaching?

The Teaching Help Desk has faculty who are available for consultation on various topics such as course design, test development, grading strategies, and more. Contact Charlie Pinkava at tlc@montana.edu or 994-5572.

Wednesday, Sept. 30, 2009

Room 108 Plant BioScience Building

Lunch Served: 12:00 noon

Discussion: 12:15-1:15 p.m.

Please RSVP to annea@montana.edu
by Monday, Sept. 28, 2009

Please note: Due to the size of the room, the number of participants will be limited to 40.